Disabled community asks shoppers to 'Save Our Space'

Don't let the busy holiday traffic tempt you into parking in a spot reserved for people with disabilities.

That's the word from the Save Our Space campaign, which cautions that if you do park in a spot reserved for the disabled – even if “just for a minute” – you could be taking it away from someone who really needs it.

And, if you get caught, it will cost you $140. Volunteers patrol parking lots and issue tickets to violators.

To report violations, obtain more information or become a volunteer, call 602-534-SPACE (7722).

Random gunfire kills

Firing a gun into the air to celebrate the New Year is not only foolish and illegal, but it can be deadly, too.

Stray bullets from random gunfire have seriously injured and even killed innocent people. Please help us make sure such senseless tragedies don't happen again.

Don't use a gun to celebrate the New Year and if you hear or witness random gunfire, call 911.

It's busy time at the airport

The holiday air-travel season is the busiest time of the year at Sky Harbor Airport. Here are a few tips to help make your travels go smoothly:

- Call your airline to confirm departure time.
  - If you will need to park, call 602-273-4545 to find out which parking lots are open.
  - Don't wrap packages because they'll be unwrapped as you pass through security.
  - Give yourself plenty of time. You'll need extra time for driving (there's a lot of freeway construction around the airport), parking, checking in and getting through security.
  - Plan on arriving at the airport two hours before your plane is scheduled to depart.
  - If you're picking up family and friends, get their flight information ahead of time so you can call the airline to confirm the arrival time.

Cease the grease

If you ever get the urge to pour grease down your kitchen sink, forget it.

Grease can block your sewer lines and cause overflows that can damage your personal property and may result in costly repairs.

And, even if grease escapes your drains and makes its way to the city sewer system, the high cost of sewer line cleaning comes from your tax dollars.

So, the city is asking you to "Cease the Grease."

Never pour grease or cooking oil into sink drains, garbage disposals or toilets. Instead, scrape grease and food scraps from plates, pots, pans and utensils into a can, jar, plastic bag or paper towel for disposal into your trash can.

City offers classes for neighborhoods

The Neighborhood Services Department has put together an extensive and comprehensive program of classes and workshops for neighborhood leaders that are designed to build vibrant neighborhoods through partnerships.

Funding for youth projects available

Young people interested in serving the community can receive grants of up to $750 under a Phoenix Youth and Education Commission program, PAYBACK (Phoenix Assisting Youth By Advancing Civic Kindness).

The grants are available for youth-led projects that benefit or create a positive and lasting impact on Phoenix residents.

The next deadline to apply for funding is Jan. 23. Future deadlines are March 19 and May 21. Groups can apply online at <http://phoenix.gov/YOUTH/payback.html>.

Remember, Shop Phoenix

Don't forget to shop Phoenix this holiday season. Sales taxes on the merchandise you purchase go into the city's general fund, which is used to help pay for important city services such as police and fire.

Don't dump wastes into storm drains

Did you know that motor oil, swimming pool water and yard chemicals that are poured on driveways and into the street go directly to our parks and rivers, polluting water, killing vegetation and endangering wildlife?

The city's storm drains collect and carry rainwater from city streets directly to rivers, washes and local parks.

You can be a solution to pollution, by not dumping pollutants and chemicals such as motor oil, household-cleaning products, swimming pool water and other wastes into storm drains.

For more information or to report illegal dumping into storm drains, call 602-256-3190 (English) or 602-495-0334 (Spanish).
